CORE is a not-for-profit education consultancy, professional learning provider, and research agency. At CORE we believe that new technologies and sustained innovation of the online environment are vital to the engagement of 21st century learners. Our mission is to push the boundaries of educational possibility: a concept made manifest in our vision for future focused education, where a student's learning is continuous and can happen anywhere—not only in that place we call school.

CORE is proud to bring you LEARNZ field trips; virtual, accessible, engaging, and meaningful learning for the real world.
